FIFTY-FIVE YEARS IN PRINTING BUSINESS

Fifty-five years ago yesterday Charles W. Fothergill made his entry into the newspaper business as "devil" in the office of the old Paris True Kentuckian, then under the guiding hands of the late Col. John G. Craddock. Mr. Fothergill is now the oldest printer in Paris with a record that is unique.

Outside of the local printshops Mr. Fothergill has never seen the inside of another printing office, and with the exception of a trip to Cincinnati about thirty-five years ago on one of the first excursions run to Cincinnati by the L. & N., has never been further away from Paris than Lexington, and then he wanted to get back as soon as possible. He has been a member of the Odd Fellows lodge for thirty-six years and has served as outside guard of that order for the past twenty-five years. He has never worked a day at his trade in any other town or office.

Although Mr. Fothergill is now in his sixty-fifth year, he is hale and hearty, and is able to hold his own with the stick and rule with any of his younger associates in the printing business. He was busy yesterday receiving and acknowledging congratulations, and some sympathy, from his friends and associates who have long known him as "Dean of the profession."

PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Executive Committee of the Kentucky Press Association has shown good judgment in selecting the middle of January instead of the last week in December for the mid-winter meeting. The close of December and the first week in January, when the meetings have heretofore been held, are the busiest periods of a publisher's year if he gives individual attention to his affairs, and it has been impossible for a number of publishers to leave their business. The meeting at Louisville this winter should have a largely increased attendance.

RELIGIOUS

A Resume of Events in Religious Circles For Present and Future

—The Ladies Missionary Society of the Spears Mill church held an interesting meeting Sunday night at six o'clock. A branch of the Baptist Young Peoples Union was organized with a good membership.

—Dr. George Ragland, one of the most prominent educators and church workers in Kentucky, who has been secured to succeed the Rev. J. W. Porter as pastor of the First Baptist church of Lexington, is expected to arrive about the first of the year to take up his new duties. The First Baptist church of which he is to become pastor in January has been without a pastor for several months, Dr. Porter having signed in the spring to accept the pastorate of a Louisville church.

—There will be a fifteen-minute prayer meeting Wednesday afternoon at the George R. Davis undertaking offices. This is the first of a series of these down-town prayer-meetings in the interest of the revival which will begin Sunday, October 29, at the Presbyterian church. Dr. J. Ernest Thacker, evangelist, and Mr. T. B. Roddy, song leader, Rev. W. E. Ellis, of the Christian church, will lead this prayer meeting. It will begin promptly at 3 p. m., and close promptly at 3:15. It will be informal, and all of the men of the town who can possibly leave their work for fifteen minutes are invited to come and join in this prayer service. The second of the series will be held in Linville's Shoe Store Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m.

COLLEGE BOYS PLAY QUEER PRANKS

Pedestrians were shocked at the sight of two fashionably dressed females shooting pool in a Main street billiard parlor in Winchester. A complaint phoned into police headquarters brought Patrolman Tarry, who gave the offenders the once over and quickly decided they handled their cues too familiarly to be genuine flappers. Closer inspection proved them to be college boys out for a lark. They were loaded into a taxi and chased back to school.

The highest price paid this season in Bourbon county for fat cattle was realized in a deal made last week when D. G. Taylor sold to W. S. Haggard 44 head of 1,450-lb. corn-fed cattle at $9.50 straight. The purchase was made for Graves, Nave & Co., of Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Haggard also purchased of Frank M. Clay eighteen grass fed cattle, about 1,400-lbs. each, at $8.50.

WALLACE REID HAVING OCULAR TROUBLE

The serious illness which has attacked Wallace Reid, motion picture actor, and which previously was not given a definite term, is an ocular one, it was stated by representatives of his employers.

It is known as "kleig eyes," and is similar to snow blindness, it is said. Reid was recently given a vacation of three weeks because his eyes troubled him. Then he worked one day in artificial light and his eyes became so tired that another layoff of two weeks was granted him. Now his eyes are said to be in worse condition than ever.

The picture upon which he was working will have a new hero, it is said.

RACING COMMISSION FAVORS HENDERSON MEETING

A meeting of the Kentucky State Racing Commission was held in the club house at Latonia on Saturday. The dates sought by the Green River Jockey Club at Dade Park, Henderson, Ky., embracing ten days, from November 8 to November 18, were approved, as were the officials for that meeting. There are C. W. Hay, Andrew G. Leonard and Sam C. Nuckols, Jr., stewards; Julius Reeder and Malcolm MacFarlan, placing judges; A. B. Dade, starter, and Quin Cogar, patrol judge. Reeder also will serve as clerk of the scales, while MacFarlan will act as racing secretary.

WONDER WHAT IT WAS?

Saturday's sessions were addresses by Dr. A. B. Johnson, of Louisville; Dr. W. A. Schwab, of Chicago, Dr.

Evelyn Bush, of Louisville, and Dr. E. W. Patterson.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet Saturday night at the hotel.

Say, suppose a wasp should sting you in the face and a bumblebee in the rear at the same time, would you advance, retreat or go up in the air? Answer quick.

LAST BREEDERS' MEETING

The next and in all probability the last breeders' meeting of the season, held in Lexington will be given at the K. T. H. B. Association track at Lexington, Wednesday, October 25. A large number of horses are expected to start, with the probability that there will be several additions to the 2:10 list.
